IN POLICE

STRENUOUS DAY.

One Accuses the Other of Stealing Chickens, but Fails to Prove His Charge.

The case of an alleged chicken theft was threshed out today in the police court, John Knocke being the accused person and Thomas McClatchey and his wife the plaintiffs. Knoche was dis charged. The complainants, who are vaudeville performers, alleged that they rented their house to Knocke and his doing a considerable amount of forg- wife while they were absent upon the vaudeville circuit with their act. When they returned it was claimed. Knocke refused to pay his rent and moved to another house, taking with him nine chickens which he had kept during the winter for the McClatcheys, using the eggs as payment for his trouble of caring for them. defendant claimed that the chickens had been given to him and for that reason he had refused to return them when requested to do so. McClatchev became quite dramatic during his examination and was told by the attorney for the defense to consider himself in court rather than on the circuit" with his vaudeville stunt. A number of witnesses were examined and various tilts between the attorneys, the judge and the witnesses lent color to the scene throughout the

The court finally decided that the prosecution had not presented a case and ordered the prisoner discharged.

FOR THOSE FOND OF FISH.

Here Are Shown the Best Methods of Preparing and Serving.

Fish as a food contains much the same proportion of nutriment as butcher's meat, only in much lighter form. It is best to choose the kind of fish that is in season, for it is then more plentiful.

Fish to be boiled should be put into boiling water and cooked gently. It is done when the fish comes readily from the bones. Steaming is better than boiling, and especially for the more delicate kinds of fish. Fish roes take longer to cook than the fish itself, and should, therefore, be put on before the latter, Always fry fish before applying batter when frying, and never use inferior or rancid fat. Mackerel should never be washed when intended for broiling, but merely wiped clean and dry. Open at the back, and turn well over while cook ing. Fresh fish have the eyes bright. the gills red, the body stiff; but one of the surest guides is the smell.
